Comments on strategy

Following the release of our 3Q26 results, the Company resumed share repurchases. Over the course of the week, we bought back 204,300 common shares at an average price of R$ 6.2135, deploying approximately R$ 1.3 million.

It was a challenging week for Bitcoin, which once again hit the cycle lows below US$ 58,000, but OBTC3's mNAV rose, narrowing the share's discount to the economic value of our reserve.

As a result, Bitcoin per Share increased by 0.15% during the week. Gross BTC Yield reached 2.96% in 4Q26 and 25.64% YTD. The Company ended the week with 3,950 BTC in reserves and 2,878 sats per share.

We continue to evaluate the allocation between directly purchasing Bitcoin and buying back shares, seeking to deploy capital toward the alternative we believe is most efficient in increasing Bitcoin per Share over the long term. Our priority remains unchanged: to preserve and grow our Bitcoin reserves while maximizing Bitcoin per Share for our shareholders over time.
