Comments on strategy

Continuing the movement from the previous week, the Company remained active in its share buyback program. Bitcoin appreciated more than the share price during the period, which slightly widened OBTC3's discount to our mNAV. Accordingly, we bought back 250,400 common shares at an average price of R$ 7.4533, deploying approximately R$ 1.9 million.

As a result, Bitcoin per Share increased by 0.18% during the week. Gross BTC Yield reached 7.97% in 3Q26 and 21.90% YTD. The Company ended the week with 3,950 BTC in reserves and 2,793 sats per share.

We continue to evaluate the allocation between directly purchasing Bitcoin and buying back shares, seeking to deploy capital toward the alternative we believe is most efficient in increasing Bitcoin per Share over the long term. Our priority remains unchanged: to preserve and grow our Bitcoin reserves while maximizing Bitcoin per Share for our shareholders over time.
