Comments on strategy

This week, OBTC3's discount to mNAV persisted, mainly on Tuesday and Wednesday, when we carried out the largest repurchases of the week. Over the period, the Company bought back 1,000,700 common shares at an average price of R$ 6.8981, deploying approximately R$ 6.9 million. By the end of the week, the discount narrowed slightly.

As a result, Bitcoin per Share increased by 0.73% during the week. Gross BTC Yield reached 2.80% in 4Q26 and 25.44% YTD. The Company ended the week with 3,950 BTC in reserves and 2,874 sats per share.

We continue to evaluate the allocation between directly purchasing Bitcoin and buying back shares, seeking to deploy capital toward the alternative we believe is most efficient in increasing Bitcoin per Share over the long term. Our priority remains unchanged: to preserve and grow our Bitcoin reserves while maximizing Bitcoin per Share for our shareholders over time.

Oranje Summit 2026

The Oranje Summit 2026 was a success. The event had a full house, with nearly 300 people passing through, along with excellent panels and guests. Attendees also took the opportunity to buy Bitcoin-related products at our store and, at the end, to get to know each other at the post-event happy hour.

We thank everyone who joined us. Stay tuned to our social media: in the coming weeks, we will release the videos from the event.
